Poppy Days Saturday And Sun. in Antioch

Poppy Days in Antioch will be observed Friday and Saturday when local American Legion men and women will approach the public in a fund raising appeal for the benefit of needy and disabled veterans and their families.

A total of 2,000 poppies will be sold by volunteers in Antioch.

The poppies are made by patients in veterans hospitals. The veterans who made the poppies are paid for their work, giving them a chance to earn while bedridden.

All Poppy workers are volunteers, all monies raised go to help needy veterans and their families.

The number of disabled veterans increases yearly, for many of these men, the only money they have is what they receive for poppy making.

The veteran appreciates all that is done for him, but he also enjoys the privilege of giving. To be able to remember his loved ones with money he has earned can be a very happy and special occasion.

Assembling poppies has a twofold purpose; first, the joy of earning the money; and second, a morale builder, keeping minds and hands busy.

Antioch went over the top in the Cancer Fund Drive and the entire county has passed its quota of $40,000, John H. Schneider, Lake Bluff, chairman, announced yesterday.

Mrs. Morris Pickus was the local chairman.

Antioch's neighboring areas are expected to reach their goal before long.

A bus will begin providing transportation to and from Antioch for shoppers starting Tuesday, June 4.

Under the new arrangement a group of Antioch business firms have arranged for the bus and set up the schedule. In the past the bus has been sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

There will be a transportation fee under the new plan, but tickets covering a period of 13 weeks will be sold at a low price. Orientation Program at Salem Central High

In the midst of a continuing effort to improve and make more efficient its program of instruction, Central High made public today the details of its new program to orient its Freshman class of 1957-58.

Previously, beginning Freshmen were invited to a "Visiting Day" in the spring preceding their formal entrance into school. During the day they were addressed by various members of the faculty, taken through the school, and in general given an idea of what lay ahead of them.

Instead of the "Visiting Day," a booklet has been prepared which will be distributed to county school eighth graders. This booklet contains advice to the student as to the meaning of high school, his purpose in going there, how to get along with the teachers, and advice on how to choose a program of studies.

During the period August 15 to September 1, each Freshman will be invited to come to the high school with a parent for a personal conference. At this time, the formalities of registration will be completed and his grade school records will be carefully studied in an effort to assist the guidance counselors to gain an insight into his school achievement. On Tuesday and Wednesday after Labor Day, all Freshmen will attend school. During these two days a full orientation and programming procedure will be followed.

Central High school feels that by this procedure it will assist the student to make the adjustment more readily from the small graded school to the departmentalized high school. Educators and parents have long recognized the difficulties and uncertainties that have attended such transition periods.

The county school has also revealed some of the details of its present program of providing for the differences in achievement and interest of its students. These include screening of youngsters into levels of English, mathematics, and science classes and the addition of clinical techniques in the "acceleration" of reading skills.

Civic League to Elect

Albert E. Jenner, Jr., Chicago attorney will be the speaker at 8 p. m. today at the annual meeting of the Lake County Civic League, Gas Hospitality House, 214 Madison st., Waukegan. Board members will be elected and officers chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Terry, Sr., moved to Oak Park recently.

Northern Trust Co. Buys Grade School's $394,000 Bond Issue

Interest Rate Is Slightly Under 3.9 per cent with $210 Premium

Northern Trust Co. of Chicago will get the Antioch Grade School $384,000 bond issue on its low bid of 3.882621 per cent interest and a premium of $210.

The same firm was low bidder in March when the board of education turned down the bids because they did not include the printing of the bonds. At that time Northern Trust Co. bid 3.75838, a slightly lower interest rate, but at the same time offered only $160 premium.

The difference merely takes into account the cost of printing the bonds.

Three other bidders, one of whom represented sub-bidders, were close in their bidding. McDougal and Condon, Chicago, bid 3.91 per cent and offered $146.72 premium; Barcus Kindred and Co., Chicago, bid 3.91012 per cent with $11.61 premium; and Harry J. Wilson and Co., representing other firms, bid 3.94295 per cent with $20.50 premium.

With the sale of the bonds the next step by the board, Supt. Richard Whitaker said, is to seek bids on the construction of the building which will be situated at the northwest intersection of Deep Lake and Loon Lake roads. He said that bids about June 15 after the architect has completed specifications.

Work probably will get under way in July.

Giddap!

According to the Citizens Committee of the Hoover Report, the government has now accepted 39 per cent of the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

But wait a moment before you cheer. The accepted 39 per cent involves only 9.6 per cent of the possible dollar savings. More than 90 per cent of the dollar savings (which would reach $5 billion a year) are in the 61 per cent of the recommendations that still lie dormant.

Where Government Made a Big Profit

The Gazette of Billings, Montana, in an editorial entitled "Well Repaid," effectively explodes the old illusion that the railroads were given an enormous financial boon through the early-day land grants.

These grants, of which there were 14, followed an earlier practice of granting public lands to aid canals and wagon road construction. In the case of the railroads, the grants totaled 130 million acres (most of which were unoccupied and unused) with a going value of $123 million.

Some years ago a federal agency looked into how much of a return the railroads had made to the government, in the form of land-grant rate reductions which were part of the contracts. It is estimated that, to the end of 1945, these reductions totaled $1,180,000,000—or 9½ times as much as the lands were worth at the time they were granted.

And this isn't the whole story. As the Gazette says: "... these land-grant roads ... created billions of dollars of new wealth and enhanced the value of both publicly and privately owned lands. Non-taxable property was converted into taxable property. Thousands of thriving communities, scores of populous cities, sprang up. . . ."

Few financial arrangements made by this or any other government have proved so profitable to the people as those old land-grants.

Your Battle

Courageous men in Congress are fighting your battle for budget and tax reduction. Newly elected Senator Lausche opposed a $5 million Federal appropriation for Pan American games to be held in Cleveland in 1959, saying: "The Federal budget must be cut. I cannot support for Ohio something that I would oppose in another state." Cleveland is the biggest city in the Senator's home state.

There has been a prairie fire of protest mail from men and women in all walks of life, demanding heavy cuts in the budget followed by tax reduction. But, pressures for spending by minority groups, seeking hand-outs from the Treasury, are terrific. The people themselves will have to curb their own demands for public spending if they ever hope to reduce the burden of crushing taxation.

Economic Highlights

"At a time of prosperity such as this nation has never before enjoyed, 5.5 million Americans are on relief rolls. The bill for this relief—3.1 billion dollars last year—is at a record high."

Thus begins an article in U. S. News & World Report for April 19. The money, it adds, goes to more than 2,500,000 elderly people, to 600,000 mothers with 1,700,000 dependent children, and to the blind, the disabled, and others.

Why should relief costs be so high in boom times, and why should the number of people sharing in the payments reach peak after peak? No single answer to such a question can be complete. But it seems that the dominant factor is what the magazine accurately calls "a revolutionary change" in the attitude of many Americans toward relief.

Not long ago, as time is measured, the indigent old were cared for by children, or, failing that, took refuge in the poorhouse. Relatives came to the rescue when misfortune struck families. Big-scale government aid, as a principle and a philosophy, was unknown.

It was not until 1935, with the great depression in full swing, that the Federal government embarked on a program of direct assistance to the needy, by providing funds to the states on a matching basis. As U. S. News points out—and it is certainly a point that seems to have been forgotten today—the program was regarded as a temporary emergency measure. Once business started back uphill and jobs became available, it was reasoned, the need for this kind of assistance would gradually end. The old age security program, supported by a tax of its own, also was supposed to do much of the welfare job.

The realization has been enormously different from the expectation. Not only are more people getting relief checks, but the amounts are far higher—as much as $200 a month to an aged couple, according to U. S. News. Old regulations, which denied relief to people owning valuable property such as autos, insurance, and homes, have generally been greatly liberalized or abandoned. As the magazine puts it, "Many Americans getting public aid today are people of substance and respectability." There are states where relief to the elderly is not called relief at all—it is given the much more attractive name of "pensions."

U. S. News goes into some of the reasons advanced by sociologists for the enormous growth of the welfare program in a time of record or near-record employment, wages, industrial activity, etc. People are living longer and so require more medical care. Inflation has bitten deep into fixed incomes from savings and other sources. Families are separated by great distances, and the old, close family relationships of another era are disappearing. No one seems to have any real solution to a social and economic problem that grows steadily more severe. But one thing can be said with certainty at this time: "Across the nation, people are turning over their family problems to the state. Big relief rolls, it now appears, are developing into a permanent part of the American way of life."

The awakening of Emily Wade

The luxurious
Ford Fairlane 500
There is nothing like it in the low-price field

Emily Wade was a girl who had always dreamed of buying a new car. Emily watched her pennies so when she saw a "medium-priced" car advertised for "only a few dollars more" than Ford she went to see it. "My heavens," she gasped when she saw the car, "it doesn't even have automatic transmission; that's one thing I particularly need. And I do want a radio and heater." So Emily's dream evaporated. Then Emily stopped in to see her Ford Dealer, an amiable fellow, who showed her how to buy a luxurious Fairlane 500 with all the extras she wanted —and at a lower price than the stripped-down model of the "medium-priced" make. "This is a car a girl like me really wants," said Emily. And she bought it right then and there. Now you know what Emily knows... for a luxury car, plus extras, at a sensible price, logic directs you to Ford.

New Driver License Forms to Be Issued Soon Are Permanent

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier today announced that the Drivers License Division of his office will soon begin issuing drivers licenses on an entirely new form by means of automatic electric machines.

Secretary Carpentier said that with the issuance of the new type of license applicants will be assigned a permanent driver number which will be retained by the motorist, even upon renewal, as long as the driver is licensed in Illinois. The permanent number will establish a positive identification of the person to whom the license is issued.

New application forms, necessary for the proper handling of the license by an Electronic Data Processing method, are to be used. One important item in the new plan calls for the applicant to fill out his full name on the form. In the past, it has been sufficient for an applicant to fill in first name, middle initial and last name. However, under the new system, it will be necessary to fill out the full first, middle and last name.

The complete residence address must be filled in on the application. Post Office Box or General Delivery addresses will not be accepted unless there are no street names and numbers in the town.

Application forms may be obtained by writing to Charles F. Carpentier, Secretary of State, Driver License Division, Springfield, Illinois. They may also be obtained from local Driver License Examination Stations or from Automobile License Investigators.

George Borovicka, local pharmacist, who was taken to Victory Memorial hospital 10 days ago is making recovery.

Armed Forces Day to Allow Navy, Army, Air Force to Exhibit "Power for Peace"

Antioch and Lake Villa township citizens have been invited to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Fort Sheridan, and the Electronics building on the occasion of Armed Forces Day, Saturday.

All three places will be open from morning until late afternoon and the public will get to observe all types of equipment.

The Navy will display its ships. Exhibits at ESO, the Navy's supply demand control point for electronics repair parts, will depict the importance of electronics to the Navy and the Armed Forces in Building "Power for Peace."

Bus service between the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, and the Electronics Supply Office will be provided by the Navy immediately following the recruit review at Ross Field, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m.

One of the most interesting displays at ESO will be a model of the earth satellite. This satellite will be launched as a scientific experiment under Navy management during the International Geophysical Year, sometime after July 1, 1957.

Another impressive display is a model of the nuclear-powered boiling water reactor plant, recently constructed for the Argonne National Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission at Lemont, Ill. This model is equipped with several sets of earphones so that guests may listen to an explanation of the nuclear power reactor.

The movie "Mr. Sun," written and directed by Frank Capra, and starring Eddie Albert and Lionel Barrymore, will be shown at intervals during the day. This film, recently seen on the NBC television energy for a solar-powered radio which will be demonstrated at ESO.

Amateur radio operators of the Electronics Supply Office will transmit radio messages originated by visitors, and receive the replies. Other attractions include an illustrated explanation of the Navy-wide distribution of electronic material by ESO; exhibits of electronic equipment and parts, including a model of UNIVAC II, the electronic brain to be installed in ESO in December 1957; an "omphometer" which indicates to visitors "the shape" they are in; a life-sized talking doll; and a "see yourself on TV" monitor scope.

Antioch residents preparing for ESO's open house include Miss Diane Robis, of Petite Lake.

Fort Sheridan will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. There will be exhibits of guided missiles.

chairman of the Executive Committee. "Our annual meeting," said Mrs. Welles, "is open to everyone interested in the work of the Society as well as the hundreds of volunteers who work with us." Reservations for the dinner may be made through the Information Center maintained by the Society at 228 N. Genesee st., Waukegan. The telephone number is Delta 6-9293.

Following dinner, the reports of the Education, Service and Campaign chairmen will be given, and nomination and election of members of the Executive Committee will take place.

"We are very fortunate," continued Mrs. Welles, "to have Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall as our principal speaker. Dr. Coggeshall is not only president-elect of the national ACS, but he is an outstanding figure in the field of cancer research."

No one could do a better job of reporting on the progress of cancer research than Dr. Coggeshall."

Health Talk

HOW CLEAN ARE YOU?

Cleanliness and good personal hygiene are within the reach of everyone. There is no substitute for the daily bath and the use of plenty of soap to rid the skin of dirt and odors, according to the Educational committee of the Illinois State Medical Society in Health Talk.

The skin harbors germs which thrive on dirt. In its normal process of reduplication, the skin gives off waste materials from its sweat glands. As billions of new cells are produced daily in the lower layers of the skin, billions in the superficial or top layer, called the cuticle, become detached in the form of a dry scale. This dead material must be removed to permit the effective functioning of the skin.

Just stepping into a tub of water is not enough. The skin should be rubbed vigorously with soap and particular attention paid to those parts of the body having folds of skin. Special attention should be paid to the feet and skin between the toes.

The daily bath should be a habit. Persons who perform strenuous work and whose sweat glands are overactive should take two baths a day. Nothing is so unpleasant as body odor.

Good personal hygiene includes frequent washing of the hands, particularly before and after meals, and the removal of dirt accumulation beneath the nails. The hair should be washed regularly and brushed daily to keep it free from dust and oil. Uncared for hair throws off a sort of rancid odor.

Clothing should be changed daily whenever possible, particularly clothing worn close to the skin. The fabrics hold odors and should be cleaned and washed frequently. Good grooming does not mean fashionable clothes, expensive footwear and intricate hair styles. The well-scrubbed look is the basic first. Simple but clean clothes and attention to teeth, hair, skin and nails complete the picture.

A clean body presents a wholesome appearance. A clean home gives a similar effect. Cooking utensils, dishes and silverware should be spotlessly clean. A ravenous appetite will be dulled if the food service is not sanitary.

Good personal hygiene is largely a matter of training and should be instilled in the very young child. An early understanding and appreciation for the small details in cleanliness will foster the development of sound principles in hygiene in later years. Certainly it will obviate the growth into habits of carelessness and slovenliness.

Good hygiene should extend itself to the community. A person interested in keeping himself clean should attempt to keep his city clean. Discarding scraps of paper, fruit skins and other things clutter up a street, invite germs to spread disease and offer hazards for accidents.

Keep yourself, your home and family clean. Strive for the well-scrubbed look by using plenty of soap and water. Remember that a clean body is the first step to a healthy body. You will not only look and feel better, but your companions and neighbors will like it too.

New Tricks with Cereal

In the cold-cold-cold of the morning, there's nothing quite like griddle cakes with honey to strengthen the spirit and please the appetite. Give them a new and exciting twist by adding a cup of 40% bran flakes to the batter as we've done here.

FLAKES GRIDDLE CAKES

1 cup sifted flour
2-1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1-1/2 cups milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup 40% bran flakes

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to flour, mixing only until smooth. Add shortening. Crush cereal and fold into mixture. Bake on hot griddle. Serve with honey. Makes about 12 cakes.

Note: Instead of greasing the griddle, rub it with a little bag of salt before baking each batch.

of cakes. This keeps cakes from sticking. For salt bag, tie 1/4 cup salt in cheesecloth.

Something for the girls! A modern 5-piece plastic scale model kitchen unit—refrigerator, dishwasher, range, drier, and washer—is now available in mix-or-match colors. Details are given on your Grape-Nuts Flakes cereal box wrapper.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

"Silence in the court!" the judge shouted. "Half a dozen men have already been convicted and sentenced without the court being able to hear a word of testimony."

A recent trip down Texas reminded me of the fact that selling pine for poles is a lot more profitable than selling them for saw-timber.

I visited a farm in Panola County, owned by a couple of brothers. They were snaking out an 87-foot, four-inch pole.

"We have just sold 28 of these poles that measure around 80 feet, for an average of $58 each," they told me. The trees were about 45 to 50 years old.

The men estimated that the 87-footer had about 300 board-feet, worth about $15 if sold for saw-timber.

"Course, pines finally get too tall for poles. They must be straight and tall but beyond a certain length and diameter at butt and top, they get back into the sawtimber class.

Crooked trees are taken out for pulpwood, the men explained, adding that they thinned the lot in 1933 and expect to thin it again this year.

A tree likes to live in its own home. What I mean is, it won't grow well if you try to grow it in soil and water which is real different from its normal home.

Lots of folk were disappointed with the red pine in Connecticut, for instance. Red pine is a northern tree. Further south it suffers from disease and lots of insect damage.

The altitude, climate, soil conditions, amount of light, all make a mighty big difference. If you're planning on a species that doesn't like your land, don't give up. There are lots of other species that will do well. Best thing to do is ask the Forest Service.

All many a youngster wants out of school is himself.

So long! See you next week!
